The Executive Council held a meeting this morning. There was nothing to come before the meeting and no business was done.

THE DRAMA.

Enjoyment. A short word, we have very many longer words in our language, but how much that single word means. When one can say he or she has had an evening of enjoyment, it means a very great deal. I had a thorough evening's enjoyment when seeing the "Royal Box" as given by the Neill company on Saturday evening.

The hypercritical might find fault here and there with the performance, but I am sure that the play, which I have given me in good faith, I know all actors are not Keane, Garricks or Irvings, not all actresses are Terry, Bracegirdles, or Clara Morris, but all can be faithful and painstaking and that is all I ask, or any one can ask. Give honest, painstaking work, and that will supply the setting for the gems to shine.

The "Royal Box" as dramatized from Dumas' story is a piece calculated to bring out the powers of one performer, to the utmost, and Mr. Neill was equal to the strain. The part of "Clarence" is most exciting, calls for the most subtle play of feeling, yet for the most energetic force of declamation, which in less able hands might degenerate into rant. Mr. Neill never ranted, but he gave us last night a specimen of powerful acting which has seldom been seen upon our stage.

That Mr. Neill never ranted, but he gave us last night a specimen of powerful acting which has seldom been seen upon our stage.

The play within a play is older than the time of Hamlet, but the rapid transformation from the man who is playing a part to the man himself, is a strong situation, and this is what the "Royal Box" brings out. It is an extraordinary situation, though not a new situation, and handled with true skill, as it was on Saturday night, it is a powerful situation. But one question whether Royal George would have behaved as well as his representative, Frank MacVicar, in the "Royal Box" gentleman George was usually drunk. This brings one to the consideration of the play, apart from the skill of the player. George, Prince of Wales, is shown as an easy going Prince, which he was, he is shown as a true an honorable gentleman, which he wasn't, and he is shown as a bit of a moralist, he who had not a moral to his character. There is not a more despicable character in history than George IV. It would be a pity if the unthinking should mould their view of George IV, upon the Prince of Wales as played by Frank MacVicar.

What does Thackeray say of him in his "Four Georges." "To make a portrait of him at first seemed a matter of small difficulty. There is his coat, his star, his wig, his countenance simpering under it. Nothing but a coat and a wig and a mask smiling below it. His air and grandeur were men, that on occasion fought and demeaned themselves like good tough soldiers. The Sailor King who came after George (William IV) was a man, the Duke of York was a man, big, burly, loud, jolly, cursing, courageous. But this George, and he is shown as "Peter Amos Dunn" and Miss Chapman as "Niobe."

The play selected for the holiday presentation, next Thursday, is "The District Attorney" one of the most powerful dramas ever written. It is from the pens of Harrison Grey Fisk, the editor of the New York Dramatic Mirror, and Charles Kline.

AT THE ORPHEUM.
The Orpheum with the entertainment proffered by Hogan and his company was full to the doors on Saturday evening with the regular Saturday night house who appeared thoroughly to appreciate the performance.

Hogan remains the favorite that he was before and has several valuable auxiliaries in various members of his company. The same program continues tonight. Several elaborate productions are announced for the near future which are to include local hits and songs now in course of preparation by Hogan.

THE OLD PLAY-GOER.

SHEEP KILLED.

HILO, November 22.—Allan Wall who returned a day or two ago from Humuula sheep ranch reports that 200 sheep were killed last Saturday while a flock was being driven across a gulch. Fred Clinton was driving the cowboys and when the few leaders disappeared in the gully, the main band rushed. The gully was full of bleating sheep making a level passage for those behind.

FUNERAL OF COL. BAIRD.

The funeral of the late Col. John C. Baird, United States District Attorney for Hawaii, took place at Cheyenne, Wyoming, at 2 o'clock, November 8, from the Episcopal church. The service was in charge of the Knights Templar.

TEMPERANCE CAMPAIGN.

The Rev. L. M. Hartley of the Anti-Saloon League occupied the pulpit at the Central Union church last night, speaking on the saloon situation in the islands and how to meet it. He said that the number of saloons was increasing throughout the group, and urged a vigorous fight against them. The beer saloon was especially denounced by Hartley. He declared that it was not, as claimed, an influence for temperance, and that if he had his choice of which class of saloons to suppress he would choose first the beer and light wine places. The services were attended by the boys and girls of Kamehameha school.

DAMAGES FOR ARREST.

Suit was brought on Saturday by Jennie W. Miles against Mrs. Annie K. Levy, for $3,000 damages for false prosecution. The plaintiff was arrested on a charge of using profane and abusive language, and Judge Wilcox dismissed the case. Judge Humphreys granted a temporary injunction restraining a defendant from disposing of any of her property while the action is pending.

EARTHQUAKE ON HAWAII.

HILO, November 22.—A vigorous earthquake was felt on this island Friday night at 10 o'clock. The shock came in two distinct waves, probably ten seconds apart. The second was the more violent of the two and made the windows rattle in many Hilo homes.

At the Volcano Hotel the quaking was felt and the opinion of the manager was that the seismic wave started from the nether regions of Mauna Loa.

DESHA ACCEPTS.

HILO, November 22.—Rev. S. L. Desha has accepted an invitation to deliver an address at Honolulu, December 19, on the occasion of the 10th anniversary of the founding of Kamehameha schools. The anniversary will be celebrated upon a magnificent scale.

"NIOBE."

"Niobe" a fantastic comedy in three acts written by Harry and Edgar Paulton, the authors of the famous comic opera, "Ermine," will be presented at the opera house tomorrow evening by Mr. Neill and his company. It is by far the funniest play in the entire Neill repertoire and made a famous success some years ago in the States, making the fortune of several managers. In it Mr. Neill is seen as "Peter Amos Dunn" and Miss Chapman as "Niobe."

The play selected for the holiday presentation, next Thursday, is "The District Attorney" one of the most powerful dramas ever written. It is from the pens of Harrison Grey Fisk, the editor of the New York Dramatic Mirror, and Charles Kline.
